Welcome & Your Baby's Naming Chart

Welcome to Your Baby's Naming Chart

Congratulations warmly on the arrival of your baby. Your little one has Scorpio Moon sign, Vishakha nakshatra, pada 4, and Cancer Lagna, giving this naming chart a thoughtful blend of emotional depth, purpose, and nurturing strength.

In Vedic tradition, the Moon's nakshatra and its precise pada guide the opening sound of a child's name because they reflect the Moon's placement at birth and its subtle lunar division. The Sun sign does not determine the traditional naming syllable. For your baby, the auspicious naming syllable is To.

This report explores names that begin with To, alongside their meanings and Chaldean number totals. It also helps you match a name with your baby's birth numbers: mulank 2 and bhagyank 2, with lucky name numbers of 1, 2, 3, 7, and 9. The report further includes the traditional naming day to support a meaningful beginning for your baby's identity.

The Moon's Vishakha influence can make a name especially significant when it carries a sense of aspiration, fulfilment, or graceful achievement. Choosing a name that follows the syllable To and harmonises with your baby's numbers creates a balanced traditional foundation while leaving room for the name's personal meaning to shine.

04

Moon Nakshatra & the Naming Syllable

The Namakshar for Your Baby

Each nakshatra is divided into four padas, and each pada carries one distinctive sound. Your baby is born in Vishakha nakshatra, pada 4, so the namakshar is To. In English, this is written as “To”; in Devanagari, it is written as “तो”.

- ♦ Pada 1: Ti — ती
- ♦ Pada 2: Tu — तू
- ♦ Pada 3: Te — ते
- ♦ Pada 4: To — तो

The name should open with the exact sound To because the Avakahada chakra tradition assigns a specific phonetic vibration to each nakshatra pada. That sound is selected from the Moon's precise nakshatra placement and is traditionally used to harmonise the name with your baby's birth pattern.

The neighbouring pada sounds, Ti, Tu and Te, are not used for this naming guidance. They belong to the other Vishakha padas and carry different sound assignments. For your baby, the correct opening is exclusively To / तो.

This sound also sits comfortably with the birth pattern: both the mulank and bhagyank are 2, carrying the gentle, receptive influence of the Moon. When you shortlist names, retain the opening To first, then favour a final Chaldean name number of 1, 2, 3, 7 or 9. Numbers 4 and 8 are avoided in this naming guidance.

Your Baby's Nakshatra Temperament

Vishakha, Pada 4: Temperament and Naming Meaning

AT A GLANCE

Your baby's Moon in Vishakha suggests a focused, determined nature with a strong wish to grow, achieve and reach meaningful goals. A name whose meaning expresses contentment, welcome or gentle fulfilment can honour ambition while encouraging inner ease.

Vishakha is traditionally ruled by Jupiter, with Indra and Agni as its deities. Its symbol is the triumphal archway, representing passage, purpose and the rewards of sustained effort. These themes may show as persistence, enthusiasm, curiosity and the ability to commit deeply once your baby feels inspired by a goal.

There can also be a pronounced intensity in this nakshatra. Your little one may tend to pursue interests wholeheartedly, dislike superficial answers and show a strong sensitivity to progress or disappointment. At times, this focus could become impatience, competitiveness or difficulty resting between achievements; these are tendencies, not certainties.

Pada 4 brings Vishakha's determined symbolism into a more emotionally perceptive and inwardly intense expression. Your baby may be observant, imaginative and deeply responsive to the atmosphere around them, while still possessing a quiet capacity to persevere. Warm reassurance and room to process feelings may help this strong inner drive mature constructively.

A name meaning contentment, satisfaction, joy, welcome or blessing could balance the urge to strive by honouring peaceful fulfilment as much as accomplishment. Meanings connected with light, wisdom, generosity or a gracious journey may also reflect Vishakha's Jupiterian ideals while softening its more demanding edge.

The Lagna & the Tone of a Name

The Lagna and the Tone of a Name

Your baby has Cancer Lagna, a water sign guided by the Moon, the Lagna lord. This gives the name a naturally caring, receptive, and emotionally meaningful tone. Words connected with nurture, calm strength, belonging, and inner feeling suit this foundation well.

The Moon is in Scorpio in Vishakha, pada 4. This adds depth, determination, and a quietly purposeful quality beneath Cancer's tenderness. A name meaning should therefore balance softness with resilience rather than feeling merely decorative or light.

Vishakha is associated with focus and reaching a meaningful goal, while the fourth pada brings a more grounded and thoughtful expression. Together, the chart favours meanings that feel gentle yet steady, with an undertone of brightness, devotion, or purposeful growth.

For your baby's name, the most harmonious tone is calm, warm, and quietly strong. Meanings suggesting contentment, joy, welcome, protection, wisdom, or a clear inner purpose can sit well alongside both the Cancer Lagna and the intense, determined Moon placement.

The traditional naming syllable for Vishakha pada 4 is To. Use this opening sound while choosing a name whose meaning feels reassuring, memorable, and emotionally substantial.

Names for a Boy

The naming syllable for your baby is To (तो).

- ♦ Tosh (तोष) — contentment, delight; Chaldean: $T4+O7+S3+H5 = 19 \rightarrow 1$, lucky
- ♦ Toshan (तोषण) — one who brings satisfaction; Chaldean: $T4+O7+S3+H5+A1+N5 = 25 \rightarrow 7$, lucky
- ♦ Toyesh (तोयेश) — lord of the waters; Chaldean: $T4+O7+Y1+E5+S3+H5 = 25 \rightarrow 7$, lucky
- ♦ Toran (तोरण) — festive archway of welcome; Chaldean: $T4+O7+R2+A1+N5 = 19 \rightarrow 1$, lucky

These boy names follow the exact To sound indicated for your baby and carry name numbers harmonious with the birth numbers. Each also has a positive, auspicious meaning suited to a child whose name is intended to express joy, welcome, satisfaction or natural grace.

Names for a Girl

The naming syllable for your baby is To (तो), drawn from Vishakha, pada 4.

- ♦ Toshi (तोषी) — satisfied, joyful; Chaldean: $T4+O7+S3+H5+I1 = 20 \rightarrow 2$, lucky
- ♦ Toshni (तोष्णी) — one who gives contentment; Chaldean: $T4+O7+S3+H5+N5+I1 = 25 \rightarrow 7$, lucky

Honouring the Nakshatra Deity & Lord

AT A GLANCE

Vishakha is guided by purpose, devotion and the power to reach a chosen goal. Its ruling planet, Jupiter, adds wisdom, growth and principled discernment, making names associated with fulfilment, welcome and noble aspiration especially meaningful for your baby.

Deity and ruling planet

The deity of Vishakha is Indra-Agni, the combined force of Indra and Agni. Indra represents courage, leadership, victory and the ability to overcome resistance; Agni represents sacred fire, purification, illumination and transformation. Together, they stand for focused energy that turns intention into achievement.

Vishakha is ruled by Jupiter, the planet of wisdom, learning, blessings, ethics and expansion. Jupiter gives this nakshatra a higher purpose: success is most valuable when it brings understanding, generosity and lasting benefit. The Moon's placement in Scorpio adds emotional depth, so meanings of inner strength and wholehearted commitment also resonate.

Meaning themes for your baby's name

- ♦ Contentment and delight: a name expressing the joy that follows fulfilment and the peace of a goal achieved. Tosh, Tosha and Toshi carry this beautiful meaning.
- ♦ Satisfaction and generosity: the ability to bring happiness and fulfilment to others. Toshan and Toshni express one who gives satisfaction.
- ♦ Welcome and auspicious beginnings: a festive threshold symbolising arrival, hospitality and shared happiness. Toran reflects this meaning.
- ♦ Purity and life-giving wisdom: water suggests nourishment, renewal and emotional clarity. Toyesh, meaning lord of the waters, honours this gentle dimension.

These meanings complement the Moon-ruled birth numbers 2 and 2 while remaining within the fortunate name-number set selected for your baby.

Name-Number Checker

Check any name yourself: add the letter values, reduce to one digit, and compare with your baby's lucky numbers.

Naming syllable: To (तो) — Vishakha, pada 4

Birth numbers: mulank 2 (Moon), bhagyank 2 (Moon)

Lucky name totals reduce to: 1 (Sun), 2 (Moon), 3 (Jupiter), 7 (Ketu), 9 (Mars).

Avoid totals that reduce to 4 or 8.

VALUE	LETTERS
1	A I J Q Y
2	B K R
3	C G L S
4	D M T
5	E H N X
6	U V W
7	O Z
8	F P

Add the value of every letter in the name, then add the digits of the total until one digit remains (for example $25 \rightarrow 2 + 5 = 7$).

Matching a Name to Your Baby's Numbers

AT A GLANCE

Your baby has both mulank and bhagyank 2, making the Moon the ruling planet of both the day of birth and the full birth date. Names beginning with To and reducing to 1, 2, 3, 7 or 9 support this lunar foundation while avoiding the unsuitable 4 and 8 vibrations.

The mulank is 2, calculated from the birth day, and the bhagyank is also 2, calculated from the complete birth date. In Chaldean numerology, 2 belongs to the Moon: it favours sensitivity, receptivity, imagination, gentleness and emotional intelligence. A name should therefore bring steadiness and confidence to this soft lunar nature rather than create unnecessary heaviness.

Your baby's nakshatra syllable is To, so every approved choice honours the required opening sound. The compatible name numbers are 1, ruled by the Sun; 2, ruled by the Moon; 3, ruled by Jupiter; 7, associated with Ketu; and 9, ruled by Mars. These numbers complement the double 2 pattern by adding clarity, wisdom, spiritual depth, courage and purposeful expression.

For a boy:

- ♦ Tosh (तोष) — contentment, delight; Chaldean: $T4+O7+S3+H5 = 19 \rightarrow 1$, lucky
- ♦ Toshan (तोषण) — one who brings satisfaction; Chaldean: $T4+O7+S3+H5+A1+N5 = 25 \rightarrow 7$, lucky
- ♦ Toyesh (तोयेश) — lord of the waters; Chaldean: $T4+O7+Y1+E5+S3+H5 = 25 \rightarrow 7$, lucky
- ♦ Toran (तोरण) — festive archway of welcome; Chaldean: $T4+O7+R2+A1+N5 = 19 \rightarrow 1$, lucky

For a girl:

- ♦ Tosha (तोषा) — contentment; Chaldean: $T4+O7+S3+H5+A1 = 20 \rightarrow 2$, lucky
- ♦ Toshi (तोषी) — satisfied, joyful; Chaldean: $T4+O7+S3+H5+I1 = 20 \rightarrow 2$, lucky

- ♦ Toshni (तोष्णी) — one who gives contentment; Chaldean: T4+O7+S3+H5+N5+I1 = 25 → 7, lucky

A family favourite outside these lists can be checked with the Name-Number Checker table, keeping the opening syllable To.

Traditional Naming-Day Considerations

Traditional Namkaran Customs

Namkaran is traditionally held on the 11th or 12th day after birth, when your baby is formally welcomed into family and community life through the giving of a name. Some families instead observe the ceremony on the 101st day or near the first birthday, according to family tradition, practical circumstances and guidance from the family priest.

The priest selects the auspicious hour through the panchanga, considering a favourable tithi, weekday, nakshatra and lagna. Traditionally, Rikta tithis, Amavasya, eclipses and periods of Bhadra are avoided, so the ceremony begins under supportive conditions.

The rite itself may be simple and intimate. After prayers and blessings, a parent or priest gently whispers the chosen name into your baby's right ear, often repeating it softly so the sound is received with affection and reverence. The name may then be written on a plate or tray of uncooked rice, symbolising nourishment, prosperity and a blessed beginning.

Your baby's birth star is Vishakha, pada 4, whose traditional naming syllable is To. This gives the Namkaran a clear phonetic foundation while leaving room for a name that feels natural, meaningful and harmonious for your family.

Choosing From Your Shortlist

AT A GLANCE

Your strongest choice is the shortlist name that satisfies all five tests together: it begins with To, carries a meaning you love, reduces to a lucky number, feels natural with your surname, and offers a pleasant short form.

1. Begin with the naming syllable. Keep the opening To consistent with your baby's Vishakha foundation. This gives the name a clear traditional connection while allowing you to choose the sound and style that feel most personal.
 2. Choose the meaning you love. Read each meaning aloud and notice which quality you most want the name to express. A name connected with contentment, joy, welcome or satisfaction can beautifully complement your baby's gentle lunar numerology.
 3. Confirm the lucky number. Use the verified Chaldean total for each shortlisted name rather than judging by appearance alone. For your baby's double birth number 2, the approved name numbers are 1, 2, 3, 7 and 9; 4 and 8 are best avoided.
 4. Test the full name. Say the complete name with your surname several times, at normal speed and in formal introductions. The best choice should be easy for family, teachers and colleagues to pronounce, spell and remember.
 5. Try the short form. A natural nickname matters in everyday family life. Check that the shortened form still sounds warm, respectful and comfortable as your baby grows.
- ♦ Write the initials beside the full name and check for unintended words or awkward combinations.
 - ♦ Picture the name on official documents, school records, certificates and professional correspondence.

- ♦ Ask whether likely nicknames feel positive and whether your baby can comfortably choose between the full and short forms.
- ♦ Say the name to relatives from different regions and consider how it may be pronounced abroad.
- ♦ Leave the shortlist for a day, then repeat the full names aloud before making your final decision.

A Blessing for Your Little One

May the naming sound To open a gentle path of contentment, clarity, and welcome for your baby. Vishakha traditionally gifts purposeful growth, determination, and the ability to gather strength while moving toward a meaningful aim. With both the birth number and destiny number carrying the Moon's number 2, names resonating with 1, 2, 3, 7, or 9 are traditionally favoured, while 4 and 8 are avoided in this naming practice.

Cancer rising gives your little one a tender, protective, and nurturing tone, with a natural sensitivity to family and surroundings. May this caring foundation, together with Vishakha's focused gift, support a life of emotional wisdom, courage, and steady fulfilment. In traditional Vedic practice, these indications are blessings and guiding symbols, never guarantees; may your baby be surrounded by health, love, joyful learning, and the lasting warmth of your care.
